

Tess Diduch

Production Memory Remix

I spent awhile trying to figure out what the difference was. I was very tired, so I'm going to try again. For a while I was thinking it might be material that was from the same source, but just not used in the original piece. Before that I was trying to come up with a tone difference. Part of the problem as well is that I never understood a narrative from the original. Will try again.